'Open skies' to foreigners

Panel urging barriers to outside investment be torn down

framework for a shakeup

» With 65 recommendations touching almost every aspect of the economy, the competition panel provided the framework for a shakeup that would go a long way to dismantling the foreign investment controls that have been a key part of Canada's policies for decades.

A federal government panel is calling for an "Open Skies" airline policy to help consumers as part of a massive overhaul of restrictions on foreign investment in Canadian industries.

The five-person study group is also urging that barriers to foreign investment be torn down, with the exception of the cultural sector, and that bank mergers be permitted — all in the name of creating a stronger, more competitive economy for the future.

Loosening government control of the domestic aviation industry would improve competition among airlines and benefit consumers and business travellers, according to Compete To Win, the report released yesterday.

The panel commissioned by the Harper government said Ottawa should raise the limit on foreign ownership of Canadian airlines to 49 per cent from 25 per cent and move quickly to expand landing rights in Europe through an "Open Skies" agreement with the European Union.

It also said the government should consider allowing foreign airlines to establish separate Canadian-incorporated air carriers using Canadian facilities and labour.

Long weekend leaving many shortchanged

Canadians looking forward to a July long weekend can be forgiven for feeling a little shortchanged this Canada Day.

With the country's biggest party falling on a Tuesday, failing to trigger three days off work in a row, the public service and many private companies expect staffers to be at work bright-eyed and bushy-tailed both Monday and Wednesday.

In short, if you're not dipping into your vacation bank to make it a four-day break chances are your bosses want to see some output Monday.

But the question remains: Will they get it?

Bank predicts vehicle exodus

Gasoline prices are becoming so high that one of Canada's top banks is predicting a "mass exodus" of vehicles from U.S. highways within four years, with a slightly less dramatic drop expected in Canada.

CIBC World Markets said in a report yesterday that gas prices in the U.S. will hit $7 US a gallon — the equivalent of $1.86 Cdn a litre — two summers from now. That marks a 70 per cent increase over today's record levels.

As a result, there will be about 10 million fewer vehicles on U.S. roads by 2012 and average kilometres driven will drop 15 per cent, the report said.

Dog park deemed safe

Off-leash area opened after poisoning scare

The yellow caution tape that surrounded High Park's off-leash dog park since Sunday was taken down yesterday, as police and park officials declared the area safe.

"Police, city park officials and community members have scoured this particular area. They haven't found anything suspicious or dangerous and at this stage we're convinced there's no further hazards to the dogs," Const. Wendy Drummond said after reopening the park at noon.

Detectives continue to investigate the source of the antifreeze that poisoned six dogs — two fatally — this past weekend. Police discovered a bag of flax bread believed to be soaked in antifreeze.

The latest police theory is that an overzealous gardener poisoned the bread, hoping to prevent raccoons from digging up the allotment gardens next to Dog Hill. This is based on the fact that several racoons have turned up dead in the past year and the bread was found in a wooded area next to the gardens.

"If they were going after the dogs, they would have left it in a place on the hill where most of the dogs go," said John Cleary, co-chair of the park's K9 Committee.

Day care accused arrested

Day care owners who allege their accountant collectively bilked them out of $755,000 held out the slender hope yesterday that they'd see their money again as the man accused of embezzling funds from not-for-profit child-care centres made his first court appearance.

David Reiner, 61, was arrested late Wednesday at Pearson International Airport after arriving from Africa to face 42 fraud and theft related charges in connection with his bookkeeping work for 21 day cares.

"He looked old, weathered, tired, and a shell of the man that I had previously known," said Maureen Myers, director of McMurrich Sprouts Daycare in Toronto.

Myers said her day care was "financially crippled" and alleges Reiner defrauded the centre of more than $120,000. She called Reiner "a friend" and said she was shocked by his alleged crimes. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Cottage owners wary of gas prices

POLL According to a poll released yesterday by Royal LePage, almost one-in-five cottage owners say they would consider selling their properties if gas prices continue to rise. "Reason, and a need to mind the bank account is likely to outweigh passion this summer," says Royal LePage. Meanwhile, a third of all respondents said rising fuel prices had already crimped their cottaging plans by reducing the number of trips they planned to take this summer.

"Cottage prices are the canary in the mineshaft. Once they go, then you can start worrying about Toronto prices," said Israel Schwartz, a Toronto-based real estate investor. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Reduce unnecessary scans: Study

More rational use of machines may cut wait times

Wait times for MRI and CT scans in Ontario — and probably elsewhere in Canada — could be reduced by cutting back on unnecessary scans ordered by doctors, a new study suggests.

The work, an analysis of why scans were ordered and what treatment course was followed based on the results, suggests more rational use of the machines should be considered.

"I think all of Canada is experiencing challenges with wait times. And I guess our message would be if you can cut down the inappropriate use, then you can actually improve access for the people who actually will benefit," lead author Dr. John You said yesterday.

The study, published in the June issue of the Canadian Association of Radiologists Journal, was conducted by researchers at Toronto's Institute for Clinical Evaluative Sciences. The work was funded by the Ontario Ministry of Health and Long-term Care's Ontario Wait Time Strategy.

Hanemaayer glad name cleared, ordeal is over

Almost every day for the last 20 years, Anthony Hanemaayer has thought about one thing.

He never expected an acquittal for the 1989 conviction that stemmed from an attack on a 15-year-old girl in her Scarborough bedroom. But in 2006, Paul Bernardo owned up to the crime, and then the Association in Defence of the Wrongfully Convicted took up his case.

On Wednesday, his name was cleared. But he can't get his life back.

"This charge made me not live life to the fullest," he said yesterday from his parents' home in the tiny hamlet of Kettleby, west of Newmarket. "I'm just glad it's over."

Reimbursement sought

Councillor asking city to pay for legal expenses

Giorgio Mammoliti is the latest Toronto councillor to seek reimbursement from the public purse for legal expenses incurred fighting a challenge to his 2006 election spending.

Yesterday, Mammoliti filed a memo to the executive committee seeking reimbursement for $54,000 in legal and consulting costs over complaints filed by Larry Perlman, who ran against Mammoliti in 2006.

Perlman told the Toronto Star he complained that Mammoliti paid too little for his campaign office, received free advertising from the Emery Village business improvement area and had $11,425 in election sign violations written off.

In documents submitted yesterday, Mammoliti claimed a legal bill of $36,593.87 and consulting fees to a real estate appraiser of $17,346.

Perlman's complaints went to a three-member committee that on a 2-1 vote rejected his request for an audit of Mammoliti's campaign expenses.

More Gardiner makeovers mulled

With new plans to tear down the eastern end of the Gardiner Expressway, Toronto now wants to look at replacing the spiral off-ramp at York-Bay-Yonge with a straight version.

The city estimates it would cost $25 million to $30 million to replace the current eastbound off-ramp — used by 20,000 drivers a day — that often causes bottlenecks in the morning rush hour. That amount would cover design, demolition and construction costs, plus creating a 0.8-hectare park on the site.

The city's executive committee yesterday agreed to an environmental assessment of the idea, which could take up to 18 months. Actual construction would be spread out over two years.

Under the plan, originally introduced in 1987, the off-ramp would begin to descend at Rees Street. At the bottom, drivers would simply turn left onto York Street — easier with no oncoming traffic — or continue through the intersection to reach Bay or Yonge streets.

broader plan

» The executive committee also endorsed going ahead with a study of the broader plan to take down the Gardiner from east of Jarvis to the Don Valley Parkway.

As well, the city would consider eliminating the eastbound on-ramp from Bay Street, where usage tops out at 340 vehicles in the afternoon rush hour, and not far from where the Gardiner will descend after the proposed teardown. The Rees Street on-ramp, by comparison, carries about 1,400 vehicles during both peak hours.

Siblings' trial set for August

A Brampton brother and sister wanted in India for the murders of a Canadian man and his cousin will be tried in absentia in that country, police officials there say.

The trial of Amanpal Dhaliwal, known by the surname Gill in India, and her brother, Gursewak Gill, who uses the alias Inderjit Singh Brar in Canada, will take place in August, Moga district Senior Supt. Ashok Baath said.

"We have been unable to find them. We got a tip she (Amanpal) may have come back to India, but we have no clue where she is," he said.

Dhaliwal is charged with conspiring to murder her ex-boyfriend, Jasvir Singh Dhaliwal, 27, after he went to India for an arranged marriage. Jasvir and his cousin, Harpreet Singh, were gunned down on Feb. 13.

Dion stakes political future on plan

Liberal leader prepares to sell 'Green Shift'

A bullish Stéphane Dion says he's confident he can win over Canadians with his party's climate change plan, even though it will mean higher energy costs.

"It's a debate and we intend to win it because we have a good policy, good values," Dion said.

"It's the first time in history I guess that you have this debate about climate change that may be at the core of an election," Dion said, hinting that his party, after several missed opportunities, may finally be ready to topple the minority Tories.

The Liberal leader, fresh from unveiling the policy last week, is in the early days of a nationwide, summer sales pitch to sell Canadians on the strategy for tackling greenhouse gas emissions.

Dion defended the twin goals of his party's ambitious "Green Shift" to curb greenhouse gas emissions while at the same time reforming the country's tax system to put more money in the wallets of the poor.

"I have received some criticism, `why is it about helping the poor? That has nothing to do with climate change and the environment'," Dion said.

Under the Liberal proposal, a carbon tax would be slapped on fossil fuels, meaning higher costs for individuals, homeowners and businesses.

But Dion has promised the Liberal plan will be revenue neutral and that the federal tax windfall, estimated to be about $15 billion, will be returned to individuals and corporations in the form of tax breaks. Dion, who has staked his own political future on the green plan, hinted that current debate is just the prelude for an election battle that could come this fall.

Alberta builds early warning mini-satellite

Alberta scientists have unveiled a new mini-satellite that will protect other satellites — and provide an early warning of any dangerous asteroids approaching Earth.

The NEOSat, about the size of a large suitcase and weighing only about 65 kilograms, will piggyback on a rocket into space in two years time.

» The Tunguska meteorite was no larger than 50 metres across and destroyed an area the size of Calgary.

The announcement comes just a few days shy of the 100th anniversary of a meteorite crashing in the Tunguska basin near Vanovara, Siberia, devastating more than 7,800 square kilometres. The satellite will also be used by Defence Research Development Canada to keep an eye on space debris.

B.C. top of drug trade: RCMP

Announcement comes a week after major bust

The RCMP federal drug squad says Canada is considered a major source country for drugs such as ecstasy, marijuana and cocaine and B.C. is the leader of the pack.

Insp. Brian Cantera of the RCMP national drug enforcement branch stood in front of a rainbow array of drugs to sound the alarm over B.C.'s role as the leading drug-producing province in Canada.

The news comes a week after the province's largest-ever ecstasy bust, which netted one million tablets from a so-called "super-lab" in Richmond, B.C. Police say pill presses at the lab were capable of producing eight- to 12,000 pills an hour. Cantera says organized crime groups active in B.C. are earning extreme profits off the world drug trade and there are a number of international investigations coming out of B.C.

Black to be stripped of Order of Canada?

Ontario MP calls for Conrad to lose his distinction

An Ontario MP has renewed his call for the Governor General to remove Conrad Black from the Order of Canada.

Black

Black lost an appeal of his fraud and obstruction of justice convictions Wednesday and will have to serve out his sentence in a Florida prison.

In light of the decision by the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeal in Chicago, it's time for Black to lose the honour, says New Democrat Charlie Angus.

"He's not a citizen of Canada, and he's lost his appeal, so I think they should move quickly, and have this dealt with," Angus said in an interview.

In a letter to the Chancellery of Honours at Rideau Hall, Angus said he's concerned about the effect on Canada's highest honour of Black remaining a member of the order.

Most Clinton fans now back Obama

Party loyalty wins over hard feelings

Barack Obama has won over more than half of Hillary Clinton's former supporters, according to an Associated Press-Yahoo News poll that finds party loyalty trumping hard feelings less than three weeks after their bruising Democratic presidential contest ended.

The poll suggests time is beginning to heal some rifts from the primary campaign and that Clinton's endorsement of Obama carried weight. The poll was taken in the days after Clinton suspended her campaign and said she was backing her rival.

Still, more than one-in-five who had backed Clinton now plan to support Republican John McCain in the fall, a boost for McCain if those opinions hold.

"We still have work to do," Obama campaign manager David Plouffe said. "Democrats are consolidating behind the nominee as the choice in the election is more clear."

He's one of three former Taliban fighters introduced to The Canadian Press by an Afghan government agency that works at getting rebels to renounce the insurgency.

Zaher insists he was neither forced to go public with his story nor coached by Afghan officials, whose routine response to terrorism on their soil is to blame neighbouring Pakistan.

Silent on central questions of gun control for two centuries, the U.S. Supreme Court found its voice yesterday in a decision affirming the right to have guns for self-defence in the home and addressing a constitutional riddle almost as old as the republic over what it means to say the people may keep and bear arms.

The court's 5-4 ruling struck down the District of Columbia's ban on handguns and imperilled similar prohibitions in other cities, Chicago and San Francisco among them. Federal gun restrictions, however, were expected to remain largely intact.

Ease foreign curbs: Panel

But consumer group says it would be mistake

The federal government risks a "consumer revolt" if it backs a controversial recommendation from the Competition Policy Review Panel to scrap the long-standing prohibition on big bank mergers, consumer advocates warned yesterday.

Bank mergers

» There has been a de facto ban on bank mergers ever since Ottawa quashed two mega deals a decade ago. The Royal Bank of Canada and the Bank of Montreal were first to test the waters in 1998.

That admonition stood in sharp contrast to reaction from industry players, who applauded the proposal as both "realistic and practical."

The Consumers' Association of Canada said ordinary Canadians would pay the price for mergers through higher fees, fewer branches and reduced customer service. "All of those things would come to haunt consumers," said spokesperson Bruce Cran.

Rules eased for domain names

First sweeping changes in 25 years

The Internet's key oversight agency relaxed rules yesterday to permit the introduction of hundreds, perhaps thousands, of new Internet domain names to join ".com," making the first sweeping changes in the network's 25-year-old addressing system.

The Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers unanimously approved the new guidelines on the final day of weeklong meetings in Paris. ICANN also voted unanimously to open public comment on a separate proposal to permit addresses entirely in non-English languages for the first time.

The organization still must work out many details, including fees for obtaining new names, expected to exceed $100,000 US apiece to help ICANN cover up to $20 million in costs. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Derrick Rose is going home, and a record crowd of freshmen are following him to the NBA.

The Chicago Bulls selected Rose, who grew up on the city's South Side, with the No. 1 pick in the NBA draft last night, choosing the Memphis guard over Kansas State forward Michael Beasley.

With Beasley going second to Miami and Minnesota picking O.J. Mayo at No. 3, college freshmen made up the first three picks for the first time in draft history.

"We actually talked about this earlier," Beasley said. "We all grew up together and we all grew up playing against each other and we all made a pact together that we would all be here. Just to see it all fall into place and see it all happen is kind of crazy."

Five of the first seven players selected were freshmen, also an NBA record.

Rose led the Tigers to the national championship game in his lone college season. The Bulls opted for the point guard's playmaking ability over the scoring and rebounding of Beasley, who ranked in the top three in the U.S. in both categories.

Spain crushes Russia in semis

Will take on Germany in Euro final on Sunday

EURO2008

Spain scored three second-half goals yesterday to beat Russia 3-0 and reach the European Championship final, giving the team a chance to shed its status as football's biggest chokers.

Xavi Hernandez, Dani Guiza and David Silva scored a goal each to give the Spaniards a shot at their second European title when they play Germany on Sunday at Ernst Happel Stadium.

Spain, which won the 1964 European tournament, had ended its run of five quarter-final defeats by beating Italy in a penalty shootout Sunday, but it confirmed its title aspirations with its penetrative passing on a slick surface in the pouring rain against Russia.

"It was difficult, especially the first half. I think it was an extraordinary second half," Spain coach Luis Aragones said. "That's what we wanted, to be in the final. But there's an adversary called Germany that is going to be interesting."

Spain is likely to face Germany without striker David Villa, who was injured while taking a free kick in the first half. Villa, the tournament's leading scorer with four goals, limped off the field and was replaced by Cesc Fabregas in the 34th minute.

"Villa will miss the final," said Aragones, who is expected to take over at Fenerbahce after the tournament. "It's not serious, but he'll miss the final because he has a pull."

Xavi scored the first goal in the 50th minute after an exchange of passes with Andres Iniesta, who eluded one defender before crossing the ball into the box for Xavi to side-foot past goalkeeper Igor Akinfeyev.

Two Spanish substitutes combined to make it 2-0 in the 73rd minute. Fabregas flicked a ball over the top and Guiza finished with the outside of his right foot high into the net. Fabregas then slid a pass through for an unmarked Silva inside the box in the 82nd minute and he scored.

"The team pushed on and I think we dominated the match. I'm very happy about being in the final," said Iniesta, who was voted man of the match. "It's a match that we want to win."

Ottawa man getting paid to be a fan

YORK REPORT
MARTY YORK
marty.york@metronews.ca

A 36-year-old Ottawa native is collecting more than $100,000 a year as a so-called superfan.

Cameron Hughes is quoted in a careers-oriented story at www.portfolio.com as saying that organizations such as the Ottawa Senators, Toronto Maple Leafs, Toronto Blue Jays, Los Angeles Dodgers, Los Angeles Lakers and New Orleans Saints pay him $2,000 a game to strut his stuff in their stands.

"I'm that guy — the funny, happy, dancing, possibly very drunk guy you've seen at the ballpark at least once," Hughes said. "I basically just play myself. It's just amazing when you put on a team jersey that people are loyal to, how much they'll cheer you and how much they'll support you."

Hughes lives in Los Angeles, where he was hoping to become an actor. He was merrily doing his thing in the Dodgers' crowd one day when a representative of the baseball club approached him and offered to hire his services as a superfan. The rest is history.

Hughes insisted, incidentally, that he never drinks alcohol on the job but downs three Red Bulls as a pre-game ritual.

Kevin Cash, a former Blue Jays catcher who serves as Jason Varitek's backup with the Red Sox, has caught both Wakefield and Zink.

"The difference between the two," Cash said, "is that Charlie throws predominantly knuckleballs but can also throw a fastball more than 90 miles per hour. I'd say Wake's knuckler has more of that late-breaking action, but Charlie really works at it and I think he may mix up his pitches a bit more effectively. I'd be surprised if we don't see him (in Boston) soon. Two good knucklers are better than one."

Sharapova flops at Wimbledon

Russian star falls to 154th-ranked countrywoman

Former champion Maria Sharapova and two-time runner-up Andy Roddick were upset in the second round in a day of big surprises at Wimbledon yesterday.

Sharapova was ousted by a 154th-ranked Russian, marking her earliest exit from a Grand Slam tournament since her first full season on tour in 2003.

Her game littered by double faults and ugly unforced errors, the third-seeded Sharapova slumped to a 6-2, 6-4 loss to 20-year-old Alla Kudryavtseva on Court 1.

The upstart winner even rubbed it in by trashing the fashion icon's widely publicized Wimbledon ensemble of tuxedo-style blouse and shorts.

"I don't like her outfit," Kudryavtseva said. "It was one of the motivations to beat her."

Russia's Maria Sharapova looks dejected during yesterday's second-round match against Alla Kudryavtseva at Wimbledon. Kudryavtseva upset Sharapova 6-2, 6-4.

Roddick, who lost in the 2004 and 2005 Wimbledon finals to Roger Federer, went out 6-7 (5), 7-5, 6-4, 7-6 (4) to 40th-ranked Janko Tipsarevic of Serbia, who has never gone past the fourth round at a major.

The sixth-seeded Roddick went 0-8 on break points, while Tipsarevic converted both his break chances. Roddick had three set points in the fourth set but couldn't capitalize, and Tipsarevic finished him off in the tiebreaker, falling to his hands and knees in celebration on Centre Court.

"This means the world to me," Tipsarevic said.

Meantime, Aleksandra Wozniak of Blainville, Que., dropped a 6-1, 6-1 decision to Denmark's Caroline Wozniacki in second-round play. In first-round men's doubles action, Toronto's Daniel Nestor and Nenad Zimonjic of Serbia defeated Alex Bogdanovic and Jonathan Marray of Britain, 6-4, 7-6 (4), 6-1.

Leafs to cut ties with McCabe

Defender's time with Toronto likely to end soon

Bryan McCabe is all but done as a Maple Leaf.

The only question remaining is the method by which the organization will cut ties with the veteran defenceman.

The Leafs have been working for almost a month on convincing McCabe to soften his stance on the no-trade, no-movement clause in his contract — with no success.

In a story that first appeared on TSN's website yesterday, suggestions arose regarding the Leafs' potential to bar the 33-year-old from training camp if he continues his no-budge stance, but general manager Cliff Fletcher expressed a more patient approach is in order for now.

McCabe

"We've asked (McCabe's agent Ian Pulver) about teams they would accept a trade to, but they said they wouldn't accept a trade, and that (the Leafs) should buy Bryan out," Fletcher said yesterday.

"That's where it stands. There's a long time before camp and we'll see if we can resolve this closer to camp."

Fletcher, through assistant Jeff Jackson, told Pulver the Leafs have no intention of absorbing the salary cap hit on the remaining three seasons of McCabe's contract. McCabe is owed $6.15 million US for next season and $4.15 million in each of the final two seasons.

Under a buyout scenario, the Leafs would absorb two-thirds of the remaining salary and, according to the report, a $2-million signing bonus that has to be paid by Sept. 15.

Other options have been discussed, but both sides refused to directly address whether a hard-line, no-camp stance by the Leafs is among them.

Hot offence leads Jays to win

Toronto thumps rising star Volquez

BLUE JAYS 7 REDS 1

More often than not this season mediocre pitchers, let alone great ones, have had their way with the Toronto Blue Jays.

That's why their chances of ending a dreadful seven-series losing streak didn't look good last night, with baseball's stingiest pitcher on the mound for the Cincinnati Reds in the rubber-match of a three-game interleague set.

Instead, the Blue Jays gave Edinson Volquez his worst beating of the year in a 7-1 victory, using one of their better offensive performances to clinch their first series win since taking two of three at Oakland May 27-29.

Scott Rolen homered and knocked in three runs while Lyle Overbay delivered a knockout two-out, two-run single to lead the Blue Jays (38-42), who won for the third time in four games before a crowd of 25,129.

Jesse Litsch (8-4) took the early run support and ran with it as his team took two of three from the struggling Reds (36-44), losers for the eighth time in 11 games. He was perfect through his first 10 batters before allowing a double to Adam Dunn, who later scored on a sacrifice fly by Brandon Phillips.

By that point the Blue Jays were already up 5-1 and there was little doubt about the night's outcome.

It was a performance that should do the still-unsteady club some good, as crushing Volquez (10-3) wasn't like hammering the lost Bronson Arroyo 14-1 in the series opener, or knocking around Aaron Harang in a 6-5, 10-inning loss Wednesday.

Tiger-Cats declawed by Alouettes

Hamilton starts CFL season in a familiar way

Anthony Calvillo threw two touchdown strikes and became the second-leading passer in CFL history as the Montreal Alouettes battered the Hamilton Tiger-Cats 33-10 in the season opener for both clubs last night.

Calvillo moved past Danny McManus (53,255 yards) late in the third quarter with a 22-yard completion to former Ticat Jason Armstead. On the following play, Calvillo hit Kerry Watkins with a 32-yard touchdown pass to make it 23-3 before a sparse Ivor Wynne Stadium gathering of 20,587.

Calvillo, in his 15th CFL season and 11th with Montreal, finished a workmanlike 25-of-37 passing for 293 yards. Watkins had six catches for 102 yards and two touchdowns.

The game marked a triumphant return for Calvillo, 35, who left the Alouettes late last year when his wife was diagnosed with a form of cancer. According to Calvillo, his wife has responded well to treatments.

Calvillo came into the game just 205 yards behind McManus but has a ways to catch recently retired Damon Allen, who is pro football's career passing leader with 72,381 yards.

It was an inauspicious debut for the Ticats, who haven't won a home or season opener since 2004. Hamilton finished with a league-worst 3-15 record last year and has missed the playoffs three straight seasons.

Starter Casey Printers had a decent outing, completing 15-of-21 passes for 203 yards and rushing three times for 33 yards. But he got little help from his supporting cast, was sacked three times and Hamilton had three turnovers, compared to none for Montreal.

Jolie, McAvoy make Wanted worthwhile

Wanted

Stars James McAvoy, Angelina Jolie
Director Timur Bekmambetov

By STEVE GOW
for Metro Toronto

REVIEW ESSENTIALLY, Wanted is two flicks in one. First, and most astutely, it's a movie about the importance of destiny; a film that's not afraid to ask the audience to consider their fate and purpose of being in life.

Although that may sound unappetizingly existential for hardcore action fans, consider the second movie that mostly comprises Wanted: A non-stop thriller about a secret society of assassins who shoot people in an impossibly cool fashion.

Wesley Gibson (James McAvoy of Atonement) is a bored, uninspired office jockey who begrudgingly takes abuse from his doughnut-famished boss, an adulterous girlfriend and his best buddy (who's also the person sleeping with his girlfriend).

When Wesley is swept away to a secret fraternity by a sexy woman appropriately named Fox (Angelina Jolie), he finds out his true purpose and becomes a super-skilled killer destined to seek revenge for his father's murder. Directed by Timur Bekmambetov (Nightwatch), Wanted makes an impressive Hollywood debut for the Russian filmmaker. Indeed, the visuals are incredibly impressive as Bekmambetov conjures up a creative combination of computer effects and live action in order to flip cars, derail trains and most notably, bend bullets around objects. Sure, it's a bit reminiscent of The Matrix trilogy's style, but where that series grew self-indulgent, this film has a quirky self-assuredness and sense of humour that gives balance to the darkness of the material.

Angelina Jolie gets a grip in Wanted, in theatres this weekend.

As for the cast, you can't go wrong putting Jolie in a film like this, but giving her a groovy little character twist really adds something special to the end.

And McAvoy makes for an especially surprising addition to the genre. Who knew a modest little Scottish thespian would make such a powerhouse action hero?

More than a cute little robot

Wall-E

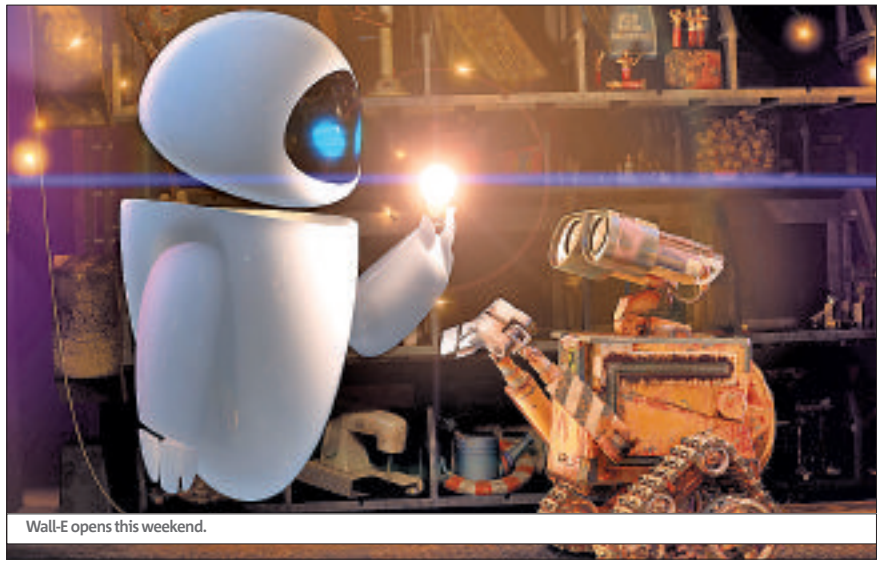
REVIEW THERE'S A desolate place at the heart of Pixar's latest feature, not surprising for a movie set in yet another dystopic vision of mankind's future, where the garbage has driven us off the planet and sentient computers threaten to rob us of our free will. And you thought you were just going to be taking the kids to a movie about a cute little robot?

The ghosts of Soylent Green, The Omega Man and 2001: A Space Odyssey hover over little Wall-E, the big-eyed trash-compacting robot who's been left to dig mankind out of its own mess on an Earth that looks like the morning after a rock festival.

In the absence of his creators, who are aimlessly cruising the universe on a starship run like a Princess Cruises liner, Wall-E has developed a lovelorn little soul, all the more sad since it's never had an object of its affection, until the day Eve arrives in his vast dump.

Eve is a sleek, iPod-like creature (designed with the help of Johnny Ive of Apple as part of an informal corporate synergy between Apple and Pixar) with a mean right hook and a mission to find the signs of plant life that means Earth is becoming habitable again. When she's taken back to the mothership after finding the seedling Wall-E's been tending, she hitches along for the ride.

The film has the sweet, but not cloying, sentimentality of the rest of Pixar's releases, and the same broad appeal for both adults and kids — how else do you explain Fred Willard's cameo, the first live-action human to appear in the studio's films? — but the setting and story feel bleak, and more than a bit underpopulated. It might not be the first Pixar film to give your kids nightmares, but it definitely lacks the warm bustle of the Toy Story films, Finding Nemo or Monsters, Inc.



Wall-E opens this weekend.

Worthy of Promotion?

The Promotion
Stars Seann William Scott
Director Steven Conrad
14A

By KIM LINEKIN
for Metro Toronto

REVIEW I WANTED to like this movie. Its concept is solid: Two losers duke it out over a promotion from assistant manager to manager of a Chicago grocery store chain only losers work at.

It's got a winning cast: Seann William Scott and John C. Reilly costar; Jenna Fischer and Lili Taylor play their wives; Fred Armisen, Gil Bellows and Jason Bateman play mealy corporate types.

Even more promising, it's the directorial debut of Steven Conrad, who wrote The Weather Man (Nicolas Cage's finest film in eons) and The Pursuit Of Happyness, movies that put a human face on the working stiff.

So how did Conrad turn this surefire indie hit into an unsure mess?

For starters, Reilly's character has just moved down from Quebec, but I dare you to find anything Canadian about him.

Taylor is, for no good reason, playing someone from Scotland. Want to hear Taylor do a distracting Scottish accent? Me neither.

But what really kills this comedy of one-upmanship is Conrad's downer need to put a human face on everything. Scott's character wants to buy his saintly wife a house.

Reilly wants to prove to his wife he won't relapse into addiction. Motivations this blandly sympathetic file all the edges off the film.

And whenever someone starts to do something outrageous — like tell a lie or rat out another character — Conrad cheats us out of the consequences by having them change their minds or be forgiven.

The pacing is unforgivably slack. Scenes linger while characters just stare at each other. Running jokes never get off the ground.

Reilly has a few good moments, like tap dancing alone in the frozen food aisle.

Scott just looks uncomfortable, and so does everyone else.

Encounters not close enough

Encounters At The End Of The World

By STEVE GOW
for Metro Toronto

Encounters At The End Of The World looks at life in Antarctica.

REVIEW AT THE beginning of Encounters At The End Of The World, acclaimed director Werner Herzog (Grizzly Man, Rescue Dawn) flies to Antarctica to make a documentary but, as he claims, he will not "come up with another film about penguins."

Instead, the German filmmaker wants to study the eccentric personalities that make up the population that choose to inhabit an isolated world where everyone must take survival school and endure five months of nighttime.

Along the way, Herzog does meet interesting people — a plumber who believes he's ancient Aztec royalty; a woman who contorts herself to fit inside a piece of luggage — but after 100 minutes of this, the film's goal is still unclear and you're left feeling unfulfilled.

There are beautiful scenes in Encounters. When the cameras go under the icy surface, they find strange science fiction-like creatures. Set to a choral score, those underused moments are simply haunting.

However, Herzog's most compelling encounter ironically comes when he discovers a fascinating penguin colony and a disoriented bird that strays off to its imminent death. Considering Herzog's earlier claim, maybe he should have made March Of The Penguins 2 after all.

REVIEW LIKE THE subject it explores, Expelled is either going to comfort or infuriate most of the people who see it. That's a shame, since the middle ground — curiosity mixed with healthy skepticism — is probably the wisest reaction to this film, featuring writer and TV personality Ben Stein as narrator and host.

The film follows Stein on a journey as he explores a controversy that's been simmering for years in the U.S. about Intelligent Design, a school of thought that suggests some evidence of innate logic or plan might explain the gaps in evolutionary theory. It's been called a Trojan horse for creationism, with some good cause, but its defenders charge that anyone who dares speak its name in the hallowed halls of academia are subject to loss of tenure, jobs and reputation.

Needless to say, there are proponents on both sides of the issue willing to argue adamantly for their case — you need only visit the film's website, or expelledexposed.com to explore their arguments. If you're already convinced of either viewpoint, then actually seeing the film is almost beside the point; it's those in the middle who might actually benefit from a viewing.

The ID side of the debate is hammered home with occasionally overexplicit visual counterpoints, and there have been charges of deceitful practice in obtaining interviews, but Stein and the film make a few worthwhile queries, such as why Darwin's more vociferous defenders often sound so high-handed, even emotional, about a theory they claim is proved with rational evidence; and how Darwin's theory was so easily transformed into a justification for one of the most barbaric social programs of the last century — eugenics, which was ultimately enacted on a lethal and monstrous scale by Nazi Germany.

Darwin's defenders might want to ask why a science they claim is self-evident provides such unsatisfying proof for so many people, while ID's proponents should ask themselves if they're being entirely honest when they claim there is no religious agenda behind their program.

GET SMART

Steve Carell takes over the role made famous by Don Adams in the original TV series — Maxwell Smart, the bumbling but cocksure secret agent who succeeds in spite of his best efforts. Anne Hathaway does a fine job with Agent 99, played by Barbara Feldon in the TV series, ably matching Feldon's innate sexiness but not quite evoking the fetchingly neurotic quality Feldon brought to the role.

THE HAPPENING

The very great problem with M. Night Shyamalan's films is that once he departs from the nameless dread so painstakingly created in their setup, they've lost most of their reason to exist. The film is a bit of a departure for the director, since he reveals the big premise early on, and not near the end, sparing the audience the eye-rolling revelations that made Signs and The Village so retroactively disappointing. Unfortunately, that means you can start rolling your eyes and giggling earlier, with the first film that makes itself the punchline to global warming's joke.

THE INCREDIBLE HULK

★★★ 1/2

Ed Norton plays Bruce Banner, the character made famous by Bill Bixby in the '70s. The film sets things up quickly — Banner is in exile in Brazil, searching for a cure for his "condition" — and rewards us with an action piece and the first appearance of Banner's hulking alter ego within the first half-hour. We get the love interest (Liv Tyler), the bad guys (William Hurt and Tim Roth) and the conspiracy theory; everything in its place and a place for everything. RICK MCGINNIS/METRO TORONTO

KUNG FU PANDA

Kung Fu Panda introduces us to Po (Jack Black), a lazy panda who dreams of one day becoming a martial arts master, but is simply too fat and lazy to make it happen. That is until he is crowned the next "chosen one" destined to hold the title of master, only to find himself tagged with the honour, much to the chagrin of the crusty guru Shifu (Stranger Than Fiction's Dustin Hoffman). Kids will love watching a dumb panda fumbling around as he tries to save his village from destruction by a sinister snow leopard.

CHRIS ATCHISON/METRO TORONTO

LOVE GURU

Mike Myers plays a self-help swami who's enlisted to help reconcile a hockey player with an ex-lover in order to end a curse. Although the comedy is filled with terrible penis puns and cracks about midgets, Myers still finds a way to charm us with his quirky characters.

Abigail Breslin plays the title character in Kit Kittredge: An American Girl.

American Girl spreads Sunshine

By RICK McGINNIS
for Metro Toronto

FEATURE THERE ARE AS many young actors on screen in Kit Kittredge: An American Girl as there are luminary adults — Stanley Tucci, Joan Cusack, Wallace Shawn and Julia Ormond among them — which is appropriate since this is the film that will be competing with Wall-E for family movie dollars this summer.

Based on one of the immensely popular American Girl dolls, it features Abigail Breslin (Little Miss Sunshine) as the title character, an inquisitive little girl whose family is suffering from the economic ravages of the Great Depression. The cast also includes movie veterans such as 12-year-old Zach Mills and freshly-minted heartthrob Max Thieriot (Jumper, Nancy Drew), as well as newcomers like Madison Davenport, all of whom suffered a whirlwind press weekend in Los Angeles recently with an entourage of mothers, minders and puppies in tow.

"My grandma grew up in the Great Depression," Breslin tells us, "so I talked to her about that, and she told me things like they put sugar on their tongues and would drink their tea over it, and everybody was in the same situation back then. And she told me that the clothes (in the movie) looked really authentic and everything, so that was good."

"Abby was so sweet," Davenport says when asked about the Toronto shoot.

"Abigail is so nice and down to earth," agrees Mills.

"She's a professional," Thieriot says. "She's truly like a professional. She's a great person and then she can completely become the character, and then go back to being a 12-year-old kid."

Davenport changed her hair colour for her role as Ruthie, Kitt's best friend. "I was there when she died her hair," adds Mills, who plays a boarder in the Kittredge house.

"I cut off his circulation," laughs Davenport.

"I very nearly lost an arm," Mills deadpans.

For his role as a young hobo, Thieriot recalls director Patricia Rozema asking if he'd be willing to live the part a bit. "She said, 'What do you think about not eating as much?' And so I literally changed my entire diet on the film, and it doesn't really look like it, but before filming started I was 160 pounds, and I went down to, like, 140. I lost 20 pounds in less than a month by just drinking juice and eating soup."

Breslin mostly remembers working with other kids as being liberating.

"It was really fun to get to work with other kids, but everybody on the movie was really nice and we had fun — me and Madison and Zach would go out every night to a mall or a movie and everything, so it was really fun."

IZOD

wants to send you and your family on a fabulous 4-Day adventure to Iceland

You could win an incredible journey that includes:

- exploring Reykjavik
- an expedition to Snaefellsnes, the portal to the center of the earth seen in the opening minutes of the film
- driving the highland mountain roads of Lundareykjadal and Uxahryggir, all the way to Thingvellir, the national park
- a visit to Gullfoss, the grandest and most awe-inspiring waterfall in Iceland
- experiencing the Blue Lagoon and its magical powers
- and a trip to the magnificent Reykjanesviti coast and the bridge between continents where you can literally walk from Europe to America

Wainwright comes out strong

By IAN NATHANSON
for Metro Toronto

Profile WHAT A difference three years made for Martha Wainwright.

When her self-titled debut came out in 2005, the singer-songwriter unleashed a barrage of songs dealing with anguish, pain and finding her feet in the world. For her newly released follow-up, I Know You're Married But I've Got Feelings Too, Wainwright proffers the complete opposite: Boldness, brashness and confidence.

"This record, like my first record, is a reflection of the time in which it was made," Wainwright tells Metro. "The subject matter in my songwriting can be morose, and sometimes bloody and gross — always pushing the envelope.

"I just didn't want to be self-indulgent this time. The music is still very intense, the singing is still very intense. But I also think you need to counterbalance that with a bit of a sense of humour and some lightness. I'm having a lot of fun now and there's a lot more joy in my life."

Canada Day

» Martha Wainwright headlines a Canada Day concert at Harbourfront Centre joined by Montreal's Plants And Animals and more.

Much of that joy, she says, stems from her marriage last fall to her bass player Brad Albetta, who also produced Wainwright's debut and much of the new disc.

Martha Wainwright is more confident about her latest album.

But she also attributes her newfound confidence to gaining her own loyal fan following, a separate entity from being the sister of Rufus Wainwright.

"At one time I was probably intimidated and afraid that there wasn't room for me in the music world," the Brooklyn, N.Y.-based 32-year-old says, "and there wasn't enough room in the room to handle two Wainwrights (Rufus and me). Of course that's a pretentious thing to believe."

Backing family members on the road did help, nonetheless. And through those family members came some rather high-profile connections, which Wainwright utilized on album No. 2: Steely Dan keyboardist Donald Fagen, who contributes a chilling synthesizer to So Many Friends; The Band's Garth Hudson, whose keyboards grace I Wish I Were; and Pete Townshend — yes, The Who axeman and songsmith — heard playing understated guitar to You Cheated Me and Comin' Tonight.

"I met him a couple of years ago. He and his girlfriend (Rachel Fuller) invited me on to their online talk show, In The Attic," Wainwright says. "Half an hour later, I found myself ... where they tape this show, playing my songs in a pair of pyjamas that they had given me. And he was accompanying me on a couple of songs."

Great Big Sea

Album: Fortune's Favour
Label: Warner
Release Date: 6/24/2008

ALAN DOYLE SUPPLIES plenty of Maritime pop rock to guarantee radio play with tracks like Walk On The Moon and Here And Now. And there's lots of celtic charm with traditional songs like England and Banks Of Newfoundland. Toronto producer Hawksley Workman is smart enough to let GBS be themselves, but there are a few clunkers, especially Oh Yeah, the band's attempt at Junkhouse-style rock.

Mötley Crüe

Album: Saints Of Los Angeles
Label: Mötley
Release Date: 6/24/2008

I REALLY TRIED to dislike this album. I mean, this is the stuff critics are supposed to hate. But just when I seemed to have things under control, a 14-year-old adolescent boy burst out of my chest, dropping giant F-bombs and playing awesome air guitar. Nikki, Tommy, Vince and Mick get all nostalgic for the good/bad old days of Hollywood leather, hair and heals. It is what it is and Mötley Crüe does it well. – GRAHAM ROCKINGHAM

Sun setting on the CD era

iTunes now world's leading music retailer

WHEN THE FIRST compact disc came off the line in Hanover in the summer of 1982 — either a Stauss symphony or The Visitor by Abba (no one seems to remember) — Germany was still divided in two. So were our choices when it came to recorded music. Some preferred the cassette, which had been introduced 18 years earlier and was enjoying a boom, thanks to a new thing called the Sony Walkman. But most people stuck with the vinyl record.

It started in 1982 and was strong for a long while, but the compact disc is a thing of the past now.

The 33⅓ RPM LP was introduced by Columbia Records on June 21, 1948. RCA — intent on launching a Blu-ray vs. HD-DVD-type format war — countered the following February with the 7-inch single. Together, they reigned as the kings of the formats until that Strauss (or Abba) CD was pressed more than three decades later. Pre-recorded cassettes disappeared. Singles and LPs were pushed to the back walls where their rack space shrunk to almost nothing.

SOUND CHECK
alan@ongoinghistory.com

Meanwhile, the music industry became wildly profitable as people dumped their vinyl and re-purchased their collections on CD. Anyone remember HMV's no-hassle CD return policy? Or their "buy 10 and get one free" loyalty card? (Really!)

But now it's the compact disc's turn to fade away. Many people will say it was doomed by the Internet and downloading but the truth is the CD began to die the moment that Strauss (or Abba) CD was made back in 1982. Once there was an unprotected digital format that could be flawlessly and endlessly copied, its fate was sealed. CD burners began to appear as standard equipment in computers in the 1990s — well, who hasn't ripped and burned a custom CD? And once you had a perfect digital copy in your machine, all we needed was something like Napster to get us sharing our music with people we didn't know.

Today, the world's largest music retailer is iTunes while the former No. 1, Wal-Mart, has signalled that it will be stocking fewer CDs. A recent report predicts that digital downloads will blow past CDs by sometime in 2010. Over the next three years, the Canadian market for CDs will drop by 50 per cent. That's more than $250 million.

And as for vinyl records? Sales are up 36 per cent this year. Go figure.

Cash-grab DVD sets: Just don't buy

BOXED IN: In response to my recent column on music issues on DVD reissues of TV shows, reader Jason Smith of Toronto writes:

"I started buying up the Married With Children DVD box sets. After Season 2 or 3's set they started putting a 'brand new' theme in there, in the place of the famous Love And Marriage Sinatra song. I wouldn't really mind that much (it's understandable now that all the laws are there about copyright and royalties) but each box set is still roughly $60 to $70 after taxes. You'd think if they are not paying these royalties that even some of the savings would be passed on to the consumer. That discourages me from buying a box set that I could easily just download and burn and make my own box set.

"It's not like the quality of most (sitcomish) DVD TV box sets are anything great — they look like garbage on my HD TV so it's not like I'm buying them for the quality of the picture. I'm buying them for the experience and in these cases, the experience is pretty tampered with, with little to no extras (trailers for other box sets do not count as extras, BTW.)"

INTELLEVISION
RICK McGINNIS
rick.mcginnis@metronews.ca

Jason is so right I'm amazed he can walk in a straight line. Unless they're tricked out with a full menu of extras, verifiably near-HD picture quality (HBO does a good job with this most of the time) or some sort of spectacular packaging, full-season TV box sets have to compete with the lowest-priced DVD packages on the market, and in that case we're talking about, say, the $23.99 US that Amazon.com is asking for most of the Mary Tyler Moore Show season sets — which contain not just the scant 12 or 18 episode seasons we have today, but 24 or more episodes.

As Michael Giltz wrote on The Huffington Report website recently, retail sales of TV shows have gone from an insignificant sliver of studio profits in the VHS era to a major chunk today, but now that DVD sales are finally starting to flatline and even slow, the studios are trying cash grabs like releasing seasons in two parts or more, or assuming fans will settle for a "greatest hits" package of highlight episodes or — even worse — releasing box sets containing shortened syndicated versions instead of the longer original versions.

"What can you do about it?" asks Giltz. "Don't buy 'em. Any show released in fragments is a show you should avoid like the plague. No matter how big a fan you are, don't let them double dip, as they'd say in Seinfeld." Or you can just download them — evil bad thought of the week — since the picture quality will likely suck on your big new flat panel anyway.

A SALTY BLOG: I'll be posting this weekend on the blog that's changed its address again — I warned you — as I head off to L.A. for The Dark Knight junket, with Season 1 of Mad Men in my suitcase. Look for a review here next week, and go to metronews.typepad.com/intellevision/ in the meantime.

Rick McGinnis writes about music, movies, books and television, but not opera.

»news In Brief

» PIZZA LOVER Drew Carey really, really loves the pizza from Antonio's — so he's having UPS deliver dozens of the pies from Ohio all the way to Los Angeles. The pizzeria's owners say the order will cost Carey $450 — not including delivery.

» MISS UNIVERSE Jerry Springer and Melanie Brown will co-host the 2008 Miss Universe pageant, which will air live on July 13. Springer is host of America's Got Talent and Brown is a correspondent for Access Hollywood.

Escape Artist

A trip to Brazil inspires Daria Werbowy's first collection for Lancôme — and helps benefit a worthy cause.

By Michelle Villett
Beauty and Health Editor

Daria Werbowy isn't your typical supermodel. Her five-year career as one of fashion's most sought-after faces should qualify her for diva-like behaviour, but when we meet at Toronto's SoHo Metropolitan Hotel, the 24-year-old Canadian beauty — dressed simply in jeans and a black blazer — comes across as down-to-earth, hard-working and professional. No doubt, it's the reason she was chosen to collaborate with Lancôme on a new limited-edition line of makeup — the first-ever collection created by a spokesmodel. For every product sold, $1.50 will be donated to the Centro Espacial Vik Muniz, a children's charity in Rio de Janeiro. "I went to Brazil a year and a half ago and was introduced to artist Vik Muniz," explains Werbowy. "We went to see the charity he's involved with [the Centro Espacial Vik Muniz], where kids from the favelas — the famous slums of Brazil — go a few times a week. Vik wanted to bring art into their lives and teach them that they don't have to be typecast by society." Werbowy says it's important to use art as a tool to bring people beyond their struggles. "I went to a high school for the arts, and I still take art classes in New York. Art has been something for me to escape to."

TOP 3 CDS

● David Berman channels Johnny Cash's ominous voice on Lookout Mountain, Lookout Sea (Drag City/F.A.B.), the quasi-country album from his band, the Silver Jews. It was recorded in Nashville, yet it seems to have bounced off another planet before returning to earth. ● Montreal's Islands have come a long way since they emerged rather shakily from the ashes of the pop-tastic Unicorns in 2005. Arm's Way (ANTI-/Epitaph) is less like a lark and more like the product of a solid, confident band with a much stronger idea of structure and a big crush on Queen. ● Aimee Mann's latest collection is @#%&*! Smilers (SuperEgo/Outside Music). Mann is an oddly dispassionate singer, but there's something compelling about her gentle melodies, especially when they're filled out by ultra-tasteful touches of keyboards and strings. MARY DICKIE

FICTIONAL TRUTHS

Uwem Akpan was born in a Nigerian village and is now a teacher in Zimbabwe, a once promising and prosperous country that is rife with civil disorder and violence under the infamous Robert Mugabe. Akpan's first collection of short stories, Say You're One of Them (Little, Brown), is a hauntingly rich evocation of parents struggling to find food to feed their families and the traumas and tribal conflicts that children witness in shanty-towns and refugee camps. NINE LIVES

Regular exercise can add years to your life — nine, in fact, according to a recent study by King's College London. The researchers discovered that fitness buffs (defined as anyone who works out vigorously for at least three hours a week) have longer telomeres — structures that protect DNA and, therefore, prevent cells from aging. Even moderate exercise (up to one-and-a-half hours a week) can provide a four-year advantage. While you're helping to preserve your body, protect the earth by exercising with recyclable fitness gear and opting for an outdoor workout instead of using electrically powered machines. LESLEY YOUNG

Real or steal?

Scrutiny of details can help identify fake purse

FRAZER HARRISON/GETTY IMAGES

There are many telltale signs of a "fake" purse. For instance, some brands like Chanel include serial numbers indicating the year the bag was made.

IS THAT DISCOUNT purse a great deal or an illegal steal? Here are some telltale signs to watch:

Tags: Some high-end designers like Louis Vuitton do not attach tags to their bags with plastic fasteners. Information and price tags usually are taken off by sales associates at the store and placed in an interior pocket. Also be aware if your bag comes with a fabric swatch.

Codes: A few brands, such as Chanel and Louis Vuitton, include serial numbers that indicate the year the bag was made. Get to know these codes and you'll be able to tell whether the bag you're being sold is new, refurbished, or just plain fake.

Holograms: They're often attached to the bag in a way that makes them impossible to rub off. Notice the hologram's colours — Chanel authenticity cards have a stripe that reflects in rainbow hues. Fakes have been known to shine gold.

Seams: Corner stitches should be neat and align on high-end bags.

Zippers: These closures are often custom-designed for the brand or the bag style. Counterfeiters may not notice, but a bag's zipper might read the brand's name on one side and have a design on the other.

Fonts: Check any places on the bag or accompanying tags for the brand's lettering. Too much or too narrow spacing between letters or words can be a red flag.

Hardware: Certain styles or designers use one kind of screws or rivets to attach name plates, chains, or clasps. On certain Chanel bags, the screws that secure the turnlock closure should be flatheads.

Care Cards: Designers will include care instructions for some styles or line of accessories, but not all the bags by one brand will come with them. If your bag comes with a card, check the grammar and spelling.

Keeping cool this summer

Does the thought of summer make you break a sweat? Follow these tips to stay cool:

»DON'T: Wipe sweat from your forehead with your sleeve.

»DO: Bring a hankie and turn away from dinner guests.

»DON'T: Apply deodorant in public.

»DO: Dip into a bathroom to dab on a travel-sized deodorant.

»DON'T: Mop your whole face with a large bandana, and carry it by your side.

»DO: Gently dab your face with a breathable cotton hankie that you can tuck away.

»DON'T: Tread the streets with grimy feet.

»DO: Wipe street dust from your sandalled toes with baby wipes.

»DON'T: Give your feet a "break" by sliding off your shoes.

»DO: Wear appropriate sandals or breathable canvas shoes to keep cool.

Keep cool in Old Navy's breathable studded thong sandals, $22.50.

ask kim

What type of fabrics should I wear and avoid for my first class of hot yoga?

Jasmine Lukuku from Karma Athletics suggests that you look for fabrics that contain a supplex blend (nylon and spandex). It has the feeling of cotton but it breathes well and wicks moisture away from the body. Try to avoid natural fabrics; they often deform as your body heats up and will keep the moisture in while you workout. E-mail your style questions to kim.elbo@metronews.ca.

sport bags

Whether we're hitting the gym on our lunch break or scheduling ourselves in between events for a yoga class, we are constantly on the go. So what we need is something that suits our hectic schedules. A large-sized bag is a must when it comes to the gym, especially if you're used to squeezing in a quick workout. Avoid bags with lots of inner pockets — you want to be able to grab your gear easily. Also, try to find something that is easily collapsible so that you can tote it around anywhere or hide it under your desk.

accessory

Bring yourself back to late '80s with this collaborated designed compact carry-all by Puma and YO! MTV RAPS. $45. Available at Impulse Sports (impulsesports.ca).

workout tops

Stay stylish while working out. These tops are great for a variety of sports, including tennis, golf and yoga. When you're out shopping for one check to see if it includes a built-in sports bra — this is essential for working out. If it doesn't include a built-in bra then look for a tank that has chest pockets for padding. The Strap Tank by lululemon has insertable bra pads to lift you up and keep you secure without having to wear an extra sports bra.

psst...

Marc Jacobs of MARC, Louis Vuitton, Stinky Rat, Little MARC ... the list goes on, has named a bag after the infamous Third World fashion blogger bryanboy.com. The bag is called BB and it will be available this fall.

tip

Never stick a towel in with your workout gear — the abrasive texture of terry cloth can cause your workout garments to pull.

Parade to end festival

10-day celebration culminates in march

By VERONICA BOODHAN
for Metro Toronto

This weekend wraps up Toronto's 2008 Pride Week, with two of the festival's largest events taking over the city.

The concluding festivities begin tomorrow with the Dyke March at 2 p.m. The annual march is held as a political demonstration celebrating the diversity of women in Toronto.

The march's 2008 Honoured Dyke is Anna Willats, a professor in George Brown College's Assaulted Women's and Children's Counsellor/Advocate program. This year's Honoured Group is the Toronto Newsgirls Boxing Club (TNG), a group providing all women with a positive, safe environment to explore the sport.

"They were nominated by the community. [Willats] is a long-time activist in Toronto and [TNG] does a lot of outreach with schools. They both fit in with what the march is about," said Lenore MacAdam, co-chair of Pride Toronto.

The event-filled weekend continues with the 28th annual Pride Parade on Sunday at 2 p.m.

Gareth Henry will be leading this year's parade as international grand marshal. Henry, who is representing Jamaica, is former program director and co-chair of the Jamaica Forum for Lesbians, All-sexuals and Gays.

Also leading the parade is Metro columnist, Enza "Supermodel" Anderson, this year's grand marshal. The Honoured Group this year is the Friends for Life Bike Rally, which raises money for the Toronto People With AIDS Foundation.

The parade will include different groups from around the city, gathering to celebrate the achievements of the lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender communities.

Toronto's Pride Week is one of the largest Pride events in the world, with hundreds of thousands of people expected to attend. There will be floats, marchers and performers from around the city at this year's parade.

The theme this year is "Unified!" an event that has united the city, according to Courtney Sidsworth, co-ordinator of Pride Toronto's Parade Committee. "It brings all people together," she says. "It's a celebration of everyone's diversity."

Pride weekend has officially arrived. The festival mayhem gets into full gear with STARRY NIGHT AT CAWTHRA SQUARE PARK in the heart of the village. This glitz and glam event features local celebrity bartenders and yours truly, shaking, stirring and mixing up cocktails and raising money for the 519 Community Centre. Board Chair Mathieu Chantelois and board member Nina Arsenault provide official host duties.

"We want everybody to take a break and spend some quality time before the craziness of Pride weekend begins," says Chantelois. "The 519 is a meeting place for its diverse downtown communities. This weekend, having a cocktail with us will make a difference."

Tomorrow, women unite in the annual DYKE MARCH led by Honoured Dyke Anna Willats and Honoured Group Toronto Newsgirls Boxing Club.

» THE DETAILS: Bloor and Church, south along Yonge Street to Wood Street at 2 p.m.

With three main stages along Church Street, there's sure to be enough entertainment to please. Spice Girl Melanie C makes her Toronto Pride debut on the Wellesley Stage at 6 p.m tomorrow. The Hidden Cameras make their return to Church Street South Stage at 9 p.m.

There's also plenty of musical talent throughout the day to keep you in tune. Dance club chart sensation Vernessa Mitchell, electric pop band Dragonette, '80s pop group sensation The Parachute Club, and a cappella foursome Cadence are just some of the 100-plus performers on the day.

Sunday is the PRIDE PARADE, with hundreds of thousdands of people expected to attend, including Honoured Group Friends for Like Bike Rally, international grand marshal Gareth Henry, and yours truly, the Pride grand marshal.

After the parade, there's more music to delight, including chart-topper Jully Black, electric music band Jelo and Canadian Juno winner Billy Newton Davis, just to name a few.

Drag sensation RuPaul caps the weekend off at the official Pride closing party.

» THE DETAILS: Circa Nightclub, 126 John St., www.circatoronto.com, 416-979-0444, Sunday at 10 p.m.

With events all weekend long, it's a sure thing Pride 2008 will be one big gay party. Happy Pride Toronto!

Celebrating Riverboat coffee house

City Roots Festival puts spotlight on famous showcase

The fifth annual City Roots Festival, a free and increasingly robust weekend-long exposition in the Distillery District of the best Toronto has to offer in the way of folk, country, blues, singer-songwriters and various related hybrids, kicks off tonight with its only ticketed event, Riverboat Revival, at Hugh's Room (2261 Dundas St. W., $15 at 416-531-6604, $17 at the door).

The concert celebrates The Riverboat coffee house, Yorkville's famous showcase for original, folk-based music in the 1960s and '70s and host to many of the world's best-known artists, including Neil Young, Joni Mitchell, Ian and Sylvia, Lonnie Johnson, Steve Goodman, Tim Hardin, Phil Ochs, Willie P. Bennett and Tom Rush. Their work will be represented tomorrow in performances by contemporary and veteran roots music favourites, including Ronney Abramson, Laura Fernandez, Tim Harrison, Jay Linden, Danny Marks, Palominos, Steve Raiken, Suzie Vinnick and Noah Zacharin. The festival proper takes place Saturday and Sunday on several stages in the Distillery District, with some 40 acts — around 150 musicians — including songwriters Blair Packham, Jay Linden, Jory Nash, Kyp Harness, Paul Quarrington, Peter Boyd, bluegrass/newgrass wizards Creaking Tree String Quartet and Foggy Hogtown Boys, blues specialists Danny Marks, Jerome Godboo, Rob Lutes and Doc MacLean, Afro-Canadian songwriter/guitarist Donné Roberts, and country-blues outfit Porkbelly Futures, among many others.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES | March 21-April 20
Your great effort is being noticed. You'll have to make a heroic stand. There will be some problems due to a malfunction.

TAURUS | April 21-May 21
A gift will initiate passionate debates. Don't rely on someone to show up. Stop heartbreak by avoiding nostalgic thoughts.

GEMINI | May 22-June 21
Taking easy money will lead to a lecture. Don't insist on talking about duties. A fearful friend is standing at the crossroads.

CANCER | June 22-July 22
Someone is upset about pushovers getting ahead. A noisy person is not too scared to talk. It's nobody's business what you do.

LEO | July 23-Aug. 23
You'll approve of people who don't clash with anyone. A streetwise person provokes you to slip up. A loudmouth tells a boss where to go.

VIRGO | Aug. 24-Sept. 22
A sibling finds your lucky charm. A secret love is the best part of your day. An argument excites everyone who finds out about it.

LIBRA | Sep. 23-Oct. 23
A thoughtless quarrel will cause a wonderful brainstorm. A workman's appeal will be unsettling. You'll have to be patient.

SCORPIO | Oct. 24- Nov. 22
A temperamental person behaves badly. Concern about earnings gets on your nerves. Beware people who are too friendly.

SAGITTARIUS | Nov. 23- Dec. 21
Emotions are running away with a storyteller. Finding inner peace should become a goal. You'll find your way at last.

CAPRICORN | Dec. 22-Jan. 20
A neat freak is serious about playing. A thrilling person causes alienation of affections. Romance is sweet after a gift is given.

AQUARIUS | Jan. 21-Feb. 18
Great success and material comfort are on the way. A deep love changes someone's life. Meeting your match is an adventure.

PISCES | Feb. 19-Mar. 20
A male wrongdoer has serious issues. Take care when facing your limitations in secret. Subtlety is best at dealing with distress. AVATAR VENUS instructions

The digits 1 through 9 will appear exactly once in each row, each column, and each zone. (A zone is an outlined 3x3 grid within the larger puzzle grid. There are nine of these zones in the puzzle.) Do not enter a digit into a box if it already appears elsewhere in the same 3x3 zone, or in the same row across the puzzle, or column down the puzzle.

Sleeping separately

Family affair: Madonna and Guy Ritchie enjoyed a three-day break in Italy — but slept in separate rooms, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

The couple — who this week have been dogged by reports their marriage is on the verge of collapsing — left their children, Lourdes, 11, Rocco, seven, and two-year-old David with a nanny while they visited Milan at the end of last week.

However, the pair reportedly slept in separate rooms and are said to have spent very little time together. A source close to the couple told Britain's The Sun newspaper: "They had completely separate rooms, schedules, everything. It was all very well-organized but it's not a marriage the way most people understand it.

"They have this attitude like, 'We're not really a couple but we're friends and we love each other and raise our kids.' But the truth is they annoy each other, don't agree on anything, don't see each other or live 'together' as they did."

Madonna, 49, used the trip to visit fashion designers to source costumes for her forthcoming world tour, while Guy, 39, was working on a new commercial with actor George Clooney.

It was reported earlier this week that Madonna had hired Fiona Shackleton, the lawyer who represented Sir Paul McCartney in his split from Heather Mills, to handle her and Guy's alleged divorce.

Matthew's girl accepts his fame

PEOPLE Matthew McConaughey's pregnant Brazilian girlfriend has resigned herself to the fact her man is always in demand — by other women, imdb.com reports.

Far from upsetting mum-to-be Camila Alves, photos of a drunk McConaughey appearing to flirt with locals in a Nicaraguan bar only make her realize how difficult it is to be a star. The actor's brother Rooster tells In Touch magazine, "Camila loves him for him. He's a free spirit and she gets it.

"She knows what it's like being around a famous guy."

Moss seeks Springer's wisdom

CONSOLATION Kate Moss is seeking advice from Jerry Springer, femalefirst.co.uk reports.

The model, 34, has been talking with the talk-show host while he has been in London.

The pair have been meeting at the Dorchester hotel where Moss has been discussing her fears for her friend, actor Rhys Ifans, who recently split with Moss' rival, actress Sienna Miller.

A source told Britain's Daily Star newspaper: "She's got a lot on her mind and she tends to take on her friends' problems and concerns as well.

"Jerry has patiently listened to her worries and given her some sterling advice. Instead of hating Sienna for upsetting her friend, Kate has managed to see things from her perspective and has calmed down about the whole, sorry affair.

"This unlikely therapy has turned her into a new woman."

Moss was said to be "beside herself" after learning of the split between Ifans and Miller, as it reminded her of her own painful separation from rocker Pete Doherty last year.
